My favourite book is the Bible.
I like it because it tells me about God.
It has nice stories that teach me to be good.
I learn how to be kind and help others.
It teaches me to share and forgive.
I feel happy when I read it with my family.
That is why the Bible is my favourite book.

Super Six Nations- who will be crowned the winner?

Alexandra

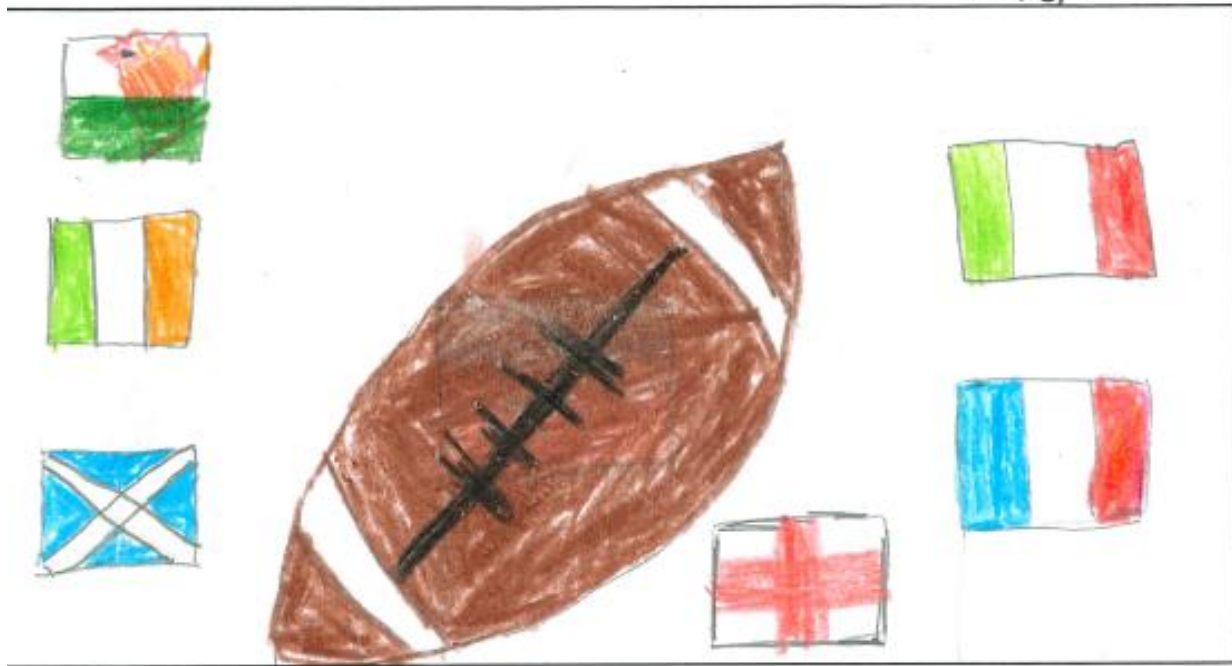

It's called the 6 nations because 6 national rugby teams play the championship. The 6 teams are England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, Italy and France. Even if Italy is not the strongest team,

I hope it could win because that's my dad's country.

Alex

I think France will win the Six Nations because they have strong and fast players. They play very well and they won last year. England are big and powerful too so they can also win but my favourite is France.

It will be exciting to watch the games. I can't wait to see who will win!

Harry

When the six nations started England was confident they would win. England began with an easy victory against Wales but then lost to Scotland and Ireland. France are now the only team that are unbeaten, everyone thinks they are going to be crowned the winner!

Lavinia

The six Nations is six countries that play rugby, England, Italy, Ireland, Scotland, France and Wales. Last weekend I watched Italy win against England for the first time ever. I was very happy because my mum is Italian. I think that France are going to win because they are playing against England and England are on rather five and they havnt been very good this year.
